KNOW YOUR REALTY BOARD

BY Grace Hinshaw

JOHN F. LINDEBERG

Our brokers and salesmen come to the Torrance-Lomita area with such interesting backgrounds from all States in the Union and even countries in other parts of the world.

John Lindeberg is no exception. He was born in the capital and largest city of Northern Ireland, Belfast. But he probably remembers little about this fascinating part of the world because his mother and father brought him to the United States when he was a mere chip off the old shillalah.

The Lindeberg family settled in their Port of Entry, San Pedro, and John went through school here, going right into the Merchant Marine after high school graduation.

During the war, John served as an engineer, and when the war was over he was ready for sampling other careers. But after adequate sampling, the business of real estate appealed the strongest, chiefly because dealing with people is always interesting, never dull.

John likes to bowl and to sail and he will have plenty of company to help him pursue his hobbies with a wife and three little girls.

John's license is hung on the office wall of H. J. Osborne, 1536 West Pacific Coast Highway, Harbor City, where he is associated in an active real estate business.

CORK

Cork is the outer bark of the Quercus Suber oak tree. It is taken from the tree during the months of July and August, the surface cleaned and the strips flattened by heat and pressure.
